Homeworks, Quizzes, Readings and Projects

Homeworks are a fundamental step in the learning process, I expect you to do every problem I assign in class. Homework problems will be assign every day. I will not collect homeworks for grading. On the other hand, every Thursday there will be a quiz of 20 minutes and the problems will be taken from the homework assignment of the previous week.

I expect you read the material we are going to discuss before coming to class. It is extremely helpful to get an exposure to new math concepts before we discuss them in class.

I will assign a group project after the second in-class exam.

Classes

You are expected to bring your textbook and the calculator every class. Attendance is very important in understanding new math concepts. If you are going to miss a class, you are responsible to know what has been discussed in class. However the most important announcements will be posted in my homepage.

Gateway Exams and In-Class Exams

There are two gateway exams that you need to take. These are web-based exams and they have to be taken during certain days. The following are the dates:

Diff. : Aug 29 – Sep 14

Int.: Sep 15 – Sep 30.

The dates for the inclass exams are in the syllabus. If you have any problem for the schedule of the inclass exams you should talk to me in advance.

Disclaimer

The instructor reserves the right to modify the schedules (e.g. office hours, dates of hours exams, etc) and procedures in this syllabus. Any such changes will be announced in class and will be posted on my website. It is the student's responsibility to keep informed of such changes.
