Expectations

You are expected to prepare for class, which includes reading the assigned sections and attempting any assigned homework problems before class. Be respectful of me and your fellow classmates. Make sure that your cell phone does not ring in the middle of a recitation.

You are also expected to be honest. Cheating in this course will not be tolerated. All work in this course must be completed in accordance with the Student Code of Conduct found in the 2006–2007 Undergraduate Bulletin, available online at <http://www.unl.edu/unlpub/undergrad/>.

If you miss a recitation, you are responsible for learning the material on your own. Be sure to check the course Web page for information about what was covered, and talk to me or your fellow classmates if you need help.

Quizzes and homework

There will be a short (roughly 15-minute) quiz at the end of class every Friday, except during exam weeks and dead week. No make-up quizzes will be given. If you will be unable to take a quiz, talk to me beforehand so that you can take it early. You may use a calculator with a single-line display for quizzes, but you may not use any notes. No cell phones or other devices with wireless capabilities will be allowed during quizzes.

Some Wednesdays I may assign a few homework problems, which will be due the following Friday. You are expected to do your own work on these problems. If you need help, e-mail me or stop by my office on Thursday. In any given week, the homework and the quiz will be worth a total of 15 points.

Exams

There will be three 50-minute exams. No cell phones or other devices with wireless capabilities will be allowed during exams.

Resources

Because time is limited, it will be impossible to answer all questions during this recitation. Please see me during my office hours if you have unanswered questions. The best way to contact me is by e-mail, but you are welcome to stop by my office at any time. Of course, I cannot guarantee I will be available outside my office hours unless you have made an appointment.

The Math Resource Center in Avery Hall 13B is open on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from 12:30 to 8:30 p.m.; on Fridays from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.; and on Sundays from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. You are encouraged to visit the MRC if you have questions related to this course, or as a place to meet and discuss group projects.

Please make sure that your Blackboard account is active and that you are enrolled in the class. Your grades will be posted on Blackboard (<http://my.unl.edu/>) throughout the semester.
